Fund for scientific research on AIDS

Call for projects 2018
Epidemiology and public health

The Fund has been created to support research on AIDS in 3 important domains:
- translational research in virology
- epidemiology
- prevention and health promotion

The Fund aims to promote both high level research and training of young researchers by providing financial support to research projects with a maximum duration of 3 years. The Fund for scientific research on AIDS is managed by the King Baudouin Foundation with the help of an international scientific jury and a management committee.

Subject of the call
The call 2018 concerns: Epidemiological research and public health

Eligibility criteria
1. Scientific quality of the project
2. Scientific quality of the researcher team
3. Relevance of the research question and added value of the research to existing knowledge
4. Feasibility of the project
5. Potential impact of the results on further research, prevention, diagnosis or treatment

Eligible applicants
The call is open to researchers in Belgium working in an academic center, a university hospital or a research center. Collaborative projects are encouraged. Projects that involve collaboration of international research teams must be initiated and coordinated by the team based in Belgium.

Grants
A financial support up to € 150.000 will be given to a research project covering a period of 3 years max. In case of several high level projects, a support of € 60.000 to maximum € 90.000 can be given to different projects, with a maximal total amount for the call of € 150.000. The support should enable researchers to initiate a new research project or to continue an ongoing project.
